None of the eminent men in American journalism were born to the purple. All of them have spring from the ranks. Personal experience taught them the hardships of struggle, the pleasures of victory, the satisfaction of independence, and put them in toneh and sympathy with the masses. Horsoe Greeley was an admirable representative of those to whom Ahraham Lincoln belonged, and whom he loved to style "common people." In the directness, vigor and power of his editorials he had no equals. He led and moved inflions, and no writer ever had a following so numerous and so loyal. (Cheers.) He saw his cherished paper rise from nothing to be one of the greatest of American journals, and then suddenly threatened with roin in the catastrophe of '72 which caused his death. The Worst Known Si ce the Big Washington, April 11. Secretary flishe was confined to his room to-day by an attack of gont. In the course of the afternoon the President walked over from the White House and educatived with the secretary respecting diplomatic matters that may require action during the President's opproaching absence from Washington.

A necessary preliminary to the disposition of the New Orieans matter is a reliable official statement of the nationality of the victims and their record in this country and Italy.

course of preparation that will touch with blunt directness upon the number of mur-ders and outrages committed in recent years in the United States by in the prosecution of the malefactors. Time is required to compile these facts and the Department of State will take the necessary time while taking care to clear its skirts of the suspicion of undue delay. In high official circles here there is no change in the opinion that the New Orleans matter is being manipulated in Italy to influence Italian politics.

Secretary Blaine had nothing to communicate and very few persons believe anything startling will occur between now and Wednesday.

I notice in the section quoted, that among other powers vested in the Mayor are that "he may call special meetings of the Board of Aldermen and Common Council, or either of them, when in his opinion the interest of the city requires it.

He shall, from time to time, communicate to both of them such information, and recommend such measures, as the business and interest of the city may in his opinion require. Section 4 of the city charter requires Section 4 of the city charter requires that "every order, resolve, ordinance, by law or regulation, which shall have passed the Common Council and Board of Aldermen shall before it be inforced, be presented to the Mayor. If he approve he shall sign it, but if not, he shall return it with his objections to the City Clerk! It then requires two-thirds of each board to pass it over the Mayor's objections." This shows that the Mayor is vested with powers of the highest importance. He is Mayor not only to preside, maintain order and have a general supervision over the despatch of public business, but is vested with a casting vote, in order to prevent the obstruction of public business by a Lie, and is also vested with a veto power, not upon his own acts or votes, but upon the order dependence when he are. upon his own acts or votes, but upon the acts and votes of those over who he pre-

But all elections of officers by the City Council shall be by joint ballot of the two boards in convention." So far as I have been able to learn the universal custom has been for the Mayor to preside at a convention of the two boards assembled for the election of subordinate officers and he is as much insubordinate officers and he is as much interested in the selection of those officers as it is possible for a Mayor to be who desires a successful administration, still be does

The charter expressly provides that he shall have only a casting vote.

We now come to section 3 of the city charter, as amended by special laws of 1880, chapter 213, from which we quote so far as it relates to the question submitted, viz.: "That a board of city assessors, to consist of not less than three, nor

What is meant by the term "each hoard to have a negative upon the other." Does it not clearly mean the Board of Mayor and Aldermen on the one hand and the Common Council upon the other hand.

I fall to find any provision of statute or any decision of a court that would in my oppinion justify me in saying that the Mayor in the Board of Mayor and Aldermen only holds the same rank and position as one of the Aldermen. It is not possible to place the Mayor in any position that would lessen the digolity of the office which he holds, during the performance of any of the fluttes imposed upon him under the charter. He is Mayor, and clothed with all the power and digolity of the office of Mayor, whether presiding over the Board of Aldermen or the joint convention of both boards. The Mayor is not an Alderman and has no legal right to vote it light right given bim to vote as mayor, and if there is a right given him to vote as Mayor, and if there is a right given him to vote as Mayor, and if there is a right given him to vote as Mayor, and if there is a right given him to vote as Mayor, and if there meetings we have pointed out the difference, in some respects, between the Mayor of an old corporation in England and the officer known by that name in this country. In both countries the Mayor is the head officer or executive magistrate of the corporation, but with us it is important to hear in mind, that all his powers and duties depend entirely upon the provisions of the charter, or constituent act of the

There are a great many people who break down in bestit and spirits and fall into actual disease, when a little good sense would save them, says a writer in the New York Tribune.

A great many women fall and grow old because they make themselves drudges from the excess of work which so many mothers take upon themselves, their appetitus become paired, their complexion pallid, their nerves unstrung, and in what should be the prime of life they are old women, unfitted physically and mentally for even the ordinary work of their positions.

The case of Mrs. Mattle Green, of 10 Nevalla St., Somerville (Boston), is a typical ode. There are thousands of womes in New England whose life, like hers, was full of sunfering—so ill at times that she could not attend to her household duties. Different physicians treated her, and used many remedies, but all in vain.

"I could get no ralled," she writes, "and was almost without hope, when I was inwas almost without hope, when I was induced to try a scientific discovery that has effected striking cures here in Boston.

One bottle afforded me great relief, and now, after using six bottles of Paine's Celery Compound, I find that my trouble a cured.
